LIFE OF THE MARINES FINE

Price Young Man Writes Parents of His First Voyage.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Faustett this week had a letter from their son, Lynn, from San Diego, Calif. The young man is in the navy and speaks of his work with the greatest of enthusiasm and pride. "We were in a little real service on this last trip," he writes. "We converted a transport on its way to Siberia until we were relieved by Japanese warships. On the boat we were with were about three thousand troops and some three hundred women and girls—nurses and telephone operators. Altogether we went about three thousand miles without seeing land. I had a slight attack of seasickness, but it wasn't bad. Only a little dizziness."

"I must tell you how good the cake was. When a box comes to any of us all the boys know of it, and we have to be sports and share. I thought it tasted so good I could have eaten it all. I brought it out one night when we were standing sea watch, and I wish you could have seen how we enjoyed it. One of the fellows raided the officers' pantry and got a couple of cans of pineapple to go with it."

"I am afraid, or rather, I know there is no chance for a furlough. One or two of the boys have been able to get five days leave, but then only in cases where they expect to get married. So unless you can find me a nice wife there'll be nothing doing until things have changed a bit. I was glad to get the Price newspaper. I had heard of Guy Thomas being seriously wounded and am grieved to hear of his death."

Young Faustett is in good health, he says, except a slight disorder from the heat of the engines. He is working a searchlight with the ship he is on. On his recent trip out he sailed from San Francisco.

MEANS MUCH TO WASATCH

Officials Figure Big Tax From Rail-road Improvements.

This week our county commissioners and other officers went over to Soldier Summit, where the Denver and Rio Grande is constructing machine shops, roundhouse, and so forth, and where considerable of their rolling stock will undoubtedly be kept in the future, to determine just what portion of these improvements are being made in our county, says the Wasatch Wave of last Friday. The county line at that place is established at the Summit and is determined by the direction in which the water flows, and not by township or section line.

As a result of that trip it is reported that the main parts of the whole of the improvements being made lies in our county. This together with about twenty-five miles of spur tracks also constructed or in course of construction. What this will mean to Wasatch county can hardly be overestimated. The improvements will amount to something like two millions of dollars and there are to be employed there about five hundred men, it is said.

If this is true there must of necessity grow up there another good sized town to be added to our plains and inland for taxes.

GRAZING GROUNDS FOR SHEEP

Novel Exhibit At Utah State Fair This Coming Month.

American grown and American made wool, especially for our soldiers, is a national slogan. The sheep in the picture are patriotic sheep whose wool will soon be cloth to make khaki and blue uniforms. The government motion pictures, taken by the department of agriculture and to be exhibited at the Utah State Fair, show the sheep grazing on the national forests while their wool grows, being counted by the forest rangers as they enter the forest, moving through the picturesque grazing lands to the watering places which the forest service is developing in order to render more grazing lands available, being driven out again, and finally their transportation to market.

Every year more than ten million sheep feed on Uncle Sam's great government ranges. Approximately three hundred million pounds of wool is sheared each year in the United States. Uncle Sam is urging farmers and city people with extensive grounds to raise sheep this year to add to the nation's wool supply and the meat supply for our soldiers and the allies.

The official motion pictures exhibited by the department of agriculture are a part of the great campaign throughout the country for increased agricultural production.

COUNTRY'S WAR GARDENERS REFERRED TO BY MILLIONS

One million five hundred thousand boys and girls have enrolled in the war garden army in the United States, cultivating more than one million two hundred thousand gardens, according to a bulletin received this week by H. Stanley Hinrichs, chief of the field division of the United States land office. The difference between the number of juvenile gardeners and the actual number of gardens is due to failure because of abandonment, drought, flood or the appropriation of garden space for building purposes.

The crop report shows that the size of the average patch of land cultivated by the youngsters is about one-fifteenth of an acre. The products, which range from parsnips to turkeys, average approximately five hundred dollars per acre. In other words, the children of America this year have contributed, but less than fifty million dollars worth of food products to the economy of the war, equivalent to a carrying capacity of fifty thousand freight cars.

animal inspector. In detail the number of animals killed are two wolves, two hundred and eighty-five coyotes, thirty-seven bobcats, three mountain lions, four bears, six badgers and a hundred and ninety porcupines.

D. D. Lewis is among several others who will this winter feed a few head of sheep over south.

Martin Millerich and John Skeet came in from the Uintah Basin country last Tuesday, where they bought fifty-eight head of cows and other stock at an average of eighty dollars with some calves thrown in. The cattle will be added to their herds in Carbon county.

Hogs fed on pens are rapidly becoming an important product of Wayne county, according to Dr. H. N. Mead of the United States bureau of animal husbandry and E. W. Stephens, field agent for the Bell Lake Union stockyards, who are back at Zion from an inspection trip through Carbon, Emery and Wayne counties. Under A. E. Smith, Wayne county agricultural agent, the farmers are getting excellent results, they say. Dr. Mead and Stephens added that they found the range stock in splendid condition.

President Wilson says: "I urge that the people continue to give general support to their schools of all grades to the end that no boy or girl shall have less opportunity for education because of the war and that the nation may be strengthened as it can only be through the right education of all its people." Registration Carbon county high school, September 6th and 7th.—ADV.

In response to the call for young men to enter college this fall to train for officers, a hundred and fifty of this state have registered in the student army training camp at the University of Utah this week. The majority of the registrations were in the commerce and finance department. The opening date for these students has not been set.

The reason that there are two sides to every question is because there are usually two or more people interested.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION—HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NUMBER EIGHT.

A resolution proposing an amendment to Section 5, Article 13 of the Constitution of the State of Utah, relating to uniform taxes and exemptions.

It is proposed by the Legislature of the State of Utah, two-thirds of all the members elected to each house concurring therein:

Section 1. That it is proposed to amend Section 5 of Article XIII of the Constitution of the State of Utah so that the same will read as follows:

Section 2. The Legislature shall provide by law a uniform and equal rate of assessment and taxation on all property in the State, according to its value, and shall provide for such property as charitable purposes, and places of burial not held or used for private or corporate benefit, shall be exempt from taxation, so that every person and corporation shall pay a tax in proportion to the value of his or her property. Provided, that the deduction of debts from credits may be authorized: Provided further, That the property of the United States, of the State, counties, cities, towns, school districts, municipalities, cities, towns, and public libraries, and water companies, shall not be taxed under this section.

Section 3. That mortgages upon real and personal property shall be exempt from taxation: Provided further, That the tax of the indigent shall be remitted or abated at such time and in such manner as may be provided by law: Provided, further, That the Legislature may provide for the exemption from taxation of houses, homesites, and personal property, not to exceed two hundred and fifty dollars in value, and of personal effects and one hundred dollars of personal property.

Section 4. If approved by the electors of the State, the proposed amendment shall take effect on the first day of January, 1919.

Approved March 8, 1917.

J. HARDEN BENNISON, Secretary of State of the State of Utah, do hereby certify that the above is a full, true and correct copy of a joint resolution proposing an amendment to Section 5, Article 13 of the Constitution of the State of Utah, relating to the taxation of mines and mining property and the assessments of same:

In witness whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the Great Seal of the State of Utah this 23rd day of August, 1918.

HARDEN BENNISON, Secretary of State.

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION—HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION NUMBER NINE.

A joint resolution providing for an amendment to Section 4, Article 13 of the Constitution of the State of Utah relating to the taxation of mines and mining property and the assessments of same:

It is enacted by the Legislature of the State of Utah, two-thirds of all the members elected to each house concurring therein:

Section 1. That it is proposed to amend Section 4, Article 13 of the Constitution of the State of Utah so that the same will read as follows:

Section 2. All metaliferous, saline or saline-sulfur, both placer and rock in place shall be assessed at $2.00 per acre, and in addition thereto of a value based upon some multiple or sum of the net annual proceeds of all other mineral, metallic or saline-sulfur, both placer and rock in place, and lands containing coal or hydro-carbons, shall be assessed at their full value. All machinery used in mining, and all property or fixtures improvements upon or appertaining to mines and mineral lands, shall be assessed at their full value, and all machinery, fixtures and property used in the mining of any mineral or metal, or mineral products, or for other than mining purposes, shall be assessed at full value. The state board of equalization shall assess and tax all property according to its value, and the amount of assessment of $2.00 per acre, and the amount of the value of any mineral or metal, or mineral products, or fixtures and property used in the mining of any mineral or metal, or mineral products, or for other than mining purposes, shall be made as provided by law.

Section 3. The Secretary of State is hereby directed to submit this proposed amendment to the electors of the State at the next general election in the manner prescribed by law.

Section 4. If adopted by the electors of the State, this amendment shall take effect January 1st, 1919.

Approved March 8, 1917.
